Welcome to TrueNorth Brokerage Group

Thank you for considering us. This packet is everything you need to decide, and everything you need to join if you do. It is short on purpose.

I built this brokerage around a simple idea: an agent who produces should keep what they earn, and a broker should be worth calling. You keep 100% of your commission. The brokerage charges $399 per closed transaction and $20 a month for the technology. There is no desk fee, no franchise fee, no royalty, and no cap to work toward, because there is nothing to cap.

What you get in return is not a bigger building. It is the marketing package behind your listings, a CRM that keeps your pipeline straight, training that is scheduled instead of promised, and a broker who picks up the phone when you have a contract question at 6 p.m. on a Friday.

We are a virtual brokerage today, and that is deliberate — low overhead is exactly why these numbers work. As the roster grows we expect to open a physical office in Hernando County. When that happens, you still will not pay a desk fee for it.

We also run a property management business across Hernando County. Those owners sell, buy, and refer their friends. That work goes to the agents in this brokerage.

If the fit is right, the paperwork in this packet takes about fifteen minutes.

Why TrueNorth Brokerage Group

You keep 100% of your commission	No split, no cap to chase, no graduated tiers. $399 per closed transaction and $20 a month for the CRM. That is the entire cost of hanging your license here.
The listing marketing package, on your listings	Professional photography, aerial photos and video, an edited listing video, floor plan, printed flyers, signage, and open house support. You win listings against agents who pay for every piece of that themselves.
The broker answers his own phone	Contract questions go to the broker-owner directly and get an answer the same day. You are not routed to a team lead, and you are not waiting until Monday.
Full CRM and transaction management	Pipeline, drip campaigns, e-signature, and a per-file document checklist, so nothing sits unsigned the night before closing.
Training that is actually scheduled	Contract-to-close walkthroughs, pricing and CMA workshops, and lead conversion practice. Newly licensed agents get the broker at their first listing appointment and first offer.
Business the property management side creates	TrueNorth manages rentals across Hernando County. Those owners sell, buy, and refer, and that work goes to the agents in this brokerage.

What we are not

We are not a lead-mill that sells you back your own money, and we do not promise a flood of company leads. Brokerages that lead with free leads usually take it out of your split somewhere else. We would rather charge you almost nothing and let you keep your own production.

We are also not the right fit for an agent who wants someone else to run their business. You are an independent contractor here. The broker's job is compliance, contracts, marketing support, and training — not managing your calendar.

Who this works for

The producing agent	You close six or more a year and you are tired of watching a split and a franchise fee come off every check.
The part-time agent	You close two or three a year. A $20 monthly fee does not punish you for a slow quarter, and there is no minimum production requirement.
The newly licensed agent	You want a broker who will sit in on your first listing appointment instead of handing you a login and a coffee mug.
The investor-facing agent	You work with landlords and buyers of rental property, and you want a brokerage that can underwrite and then manage what your client buys.

Commission plan and fee schedule

Everything the brokerage charges, in one table. If it is not listed here, we do not charge it.

Item	Amount	Notes
Commission split	100% to the agent	Paid on every transaction, from the first one.
Transaction fee	$399	Per closed transaction, deducted from the commission at disbursement.
Monthly fee	$20 per month	CRM, transaction management, e-signature, and brokerage tools.
Desk fee	$0	The brokerage is virtual. No desk fee now, and none when the office opens.
Franchise or royalty fee	$0	TrueNorth is independent. Nothing comes off the top.
Sign and lockbox use	$0	Brokerage signage and electronic lockboxes are provided for your listings.
Errors and omissions coverage	Agent carries their own	You carry your own policy and file a certificate before your first transaction. The brokerage does not provide E&O.
Listing marketing package	Included	Photography, aerial, video, floor plan, flyers, open house support.

What the agent pays for

- Your Florida license renewal and post-licensing or continuing education.
- Your Realtor association dues, MLS fees, and lockbox key fob or app subscription.
- Your own errors and omissions insurance. The brokerage does not carry coverage for agents, and you may not take a listing or write an offer until your certificate is on file.
- Your own prospecting and personal branding beyond the listing package.
- Your vehicle, phone, and anything else you would pay for as an independent contractor.

How you get paid

Disbursement. At closing, the title company or closing agent sends the full commission to the brokerage. We deduct the $399 transaction fee and disburse the balance to you within 1 business day of the brokerage receiving the commission, by direct deposit, with a commission statement showing the math.

Referral and co-broke splits agreed in writing before closing come off the top before the transaction fee is applied.

Commission disputes. If a cooperating brokerage or a client disputes a commission, the brokerage holds the disputed portion until it is resolved and keeps you informed in writing.

Leaving. If you transfer your license out, pending transactions under contract on your departure date close through TrueNorth on these same terms, and you are paid normally. Listings belong to the brokerage; we release them to you or to your seller on request, in writing, with no release fee.

Monthly fee, in plain terms

The $20 monthly fee is billed on the first of each month and covers the CRM, transaction management, e-signature, and shared templates. It is not prorated for a partial first month, and it stops the month after you notify us in writing that you are leaving.

Brokerage policies

These exist because Florida license law requires them, or because they protect your license and the brokerage's. They are not negotiable, and they are short.

Commissions are negotiable

Commissions are not set by law and are never set by this brokerage. You negotiate your own fee with your client on every transaction. Do not publish a fixed commission rate alongside the brokerage name, and do not discuss your rates with agents at other firms. This is antitrust exposure, not a style preference.

Advertising must carry the brokerage name

Rule 61J2–10.025, F.A.C., requires the licensed brokerage name in every advertisement. Online, it must sit adjacent to or directly above or below your contact information. Use your own name as registered with the Commission. A team or group name may never be larger than the brokerage name, and may not include words like Agency, Brokerage, Company, Corp., Inc., or LLC.

All funds go to brokerage escrow

You may never hold a deposit, a rent payment, or any other person's money. Earnest money and all trust funds are delivered to the brokerage or the named escrow agent immediately. Florida requires the broker to be a signatory on escrow accounts and to reconcile them monthly.

Files are turned in on time

Every executed contract and addendum is uploaded within 2 business days. Commission is disbursed within 1 business day of the brokerage receiving the commission, and a complete file is what makes that possible. The brokerage must keep records 5 years under s. 475.5015, Fla. Stat.

Fair housing is not negotiable

Apply the same criteria, the same showings, and the same service to every client and customer. Steering, selective showing, and screening language that excludes a protected class end the relationship with this brokerage immediately, regardless of what a client asks you to do.

You are an independent contractor

You set your own hours, methods, and business plan. You are not an employee, the brokerage does not withhold taxes, and you receive a Form 1099. Supervision here means license law compliance and file review, which is the broker's legal duty, not control of your schedule.

Supervision and file review

Every file is reviewed by the broker. Expect questions about missing disclosures, unsigned addenda, and deadlines that passed without an extension. That review is the broker's statutory duty and it is also what keeps a complaint from turning into a case.

Personal transactions

If you buy, sell, or lease property for your own account, you must disclose in writing that you hold a real estate license, as Rule 61J2–10.028 and Chapter 475 require. Personal transactions run through the brokerage like any other and the transaction fee applies.

Use of the brokerage name and marks

The TrueNorth name, logo, and marks belong to the brokerage and may be used on materials that comply with the advertising policy above. Return or destroy signage and marketing bearing the brokerage name when you leave.

Confidentiality

Client lists, contact records, transaction files, and anything in the CRM stay confidential during and after your time here. Client information collected under the brokerage belongs to the brokerage and the client, not to a vendor and not to a competitor.

Getting started

Six steps. We do most of them with you in a single sitting.

#	Step	What happens
1	Send in this packet	Agent information sheet, signed acknowledgment, signed independent contractor agreement, W-9, and a copy of your license.
2	Transfer your license at DBPR	We submit the change of employer through DBPR online. Do not work a TrueNorth transaction until the transfer shows active — it is a misdemeanor under s. 475.42(1)(b), Fla. Stat.
3	Move your association and MLS record	Update your board and MLS profile to TrueNorth Brokerage Group so your listings publish under the right brokerage.
4	Set up your tools	CRM login, e-signature account, shared document templates, and your @truenorthpm.co email alias.
5	Send your headshot and bio	For the website agent page, your listing presentations, and your signature block.
6	Sit down with the broker	Ninety minutes on contracts, our file standards, and your first ninety days of prospecting.

Before your first transaction

- ☐ Your license shows TrueNorth Brokerage Group as your employer on the DBPR licensee search
- ☐ Your MLS and association records show the brokerage
- ☐ Your signature block, business cards, and social profiles carry the brokerage name
- ☐ You have CRM access and have uploaded your first contact list
- ☐ You have read the advertising and escrow policies on pages 4 and 5
